Convincing and Unique Demonstrations Will Be Feature of Meeting

TWO ACRES OF FLOOR SPACE

Many Activities of Rural Cooperative Work Will Be Shown in Actual Operation—Parcel Postage Will Be Part of Exhibit at Louisville.

A talk or a lecture may be the most convincing and enlightening, but a demonstration must carry absolute conviction. The demonstrations that will be held in Louisville in the large Armory, April 7, 8, 9, 10, are sure to attract the attention of the farmers, their friends and neighbors who come to the Conference. A short list of some of the various demonstrations will probably give some idea of the wide scope of this meeting. Men who understand the business will develop real organizations for the handling of (1) Dairies and Eggs; (2) Vegetables and Small Fruits; (3) Farm Products; (4) Dairy Products; (5) Live Stock; (6) Purchase of Farm Requirements; and (7) Cooperative Credit. In these organizations that will be developed, an effort will be made to show exactly how the testing, grading, standardizing and packing of all the various products is done. Directions for shipping, selling, the making of returns and the finding of markets will be made features of these demonstrations.

Besides these cooperative organizations that have just been mentioned the United States Postoffice Department has arranged for space in which to display a complete parcel post department. Instead of its being merely a dummy affair with an exhibit, parcels will be handled and sent out as they are in any great postoffice. Several of the large retail stores of Louisville will send their parcel post packages direct to this office instead of the main postoffice, so that there will be continuous work in handling the mail during the whole time the Armory is open for exhibition purposes. In addition to the handling of packages from the city to the country, experts will be present to show anyone how to pack eggs, butter and country produce of every type.
Very few people know very much about this kind of a parcel post as yet, and this illustration should prove a tremendous advantage to those visiting the Conference.

THE BANKER-FARMER

B. F. Harris, of Illinois.

It seems rather odd to find on our desk a new magazine with the title "Banker and Farmer." It has always seemed to me as if the bankers and the farmers did not know each other as well as they should. In turning over this splendid magazine, which is a monthly review of the State Bankers' Association of thirty-seven states, their agricultural committees and the individual banker in agricultural matters, it seems to be most timely. It claims among its items of interest "public welfare, in connection with an effort to obtain and hold successful and permanent agriculture through better farming, marketing, education, roads, rural life and credits."

All the well-known folks who meet at the Conference for Farmers and Business Men in Louisville to discuss rural matters during the four days, April 7, 8, 9, 10, will have a chance to hear the editor of "The Banker-Farmer." Mr. B. F. Harris, of Champaign, Ill. He is not only the editor of this strong, clear publication; but he is, also, the very successful vice president of the First National Bank of Champaign and chairman of the Agricultural Commission, which was developed under the auspices of the American Bankers' Association.

Farmer Rates

The railroads of the South have been quick to see the tremendous advantage of advertising in rural life through the Conference of Farmers and Business Men in Louisville, April 7-9-10, and have allowed a very low rate, one cent per copy for the entire trip.

WINTER CARE OF THE CALF

First Essential is to Separate Young Animals From Older and Stronger Cattle—Need More Food.

The first essential to calf-raising in the winter is to separate the young animals from the older and stronger stock.

Some farmers, in fact, most of them run together but where this is done, the larger ones naturally crowd the smaller and weaker members out of the most comfortable parts of the winter quarters—often forcing them to stand the severest portion of the night exposed to the much clean air.

Such a course is unprofitable for two reasons, to say nothing of the suffering to which the helpless calves, with their unsound constitution, thus are subjected.

They will require more food to keep their bodies warm and offset the detrimental action of the severe cold.

Then no matter how much they are fed the exposure stunts their whole general system to such an extent that their delicate tissues and organs never will develop as they would if a steady, uninterrupted growth had been maintained from the start. An undesirable dairy or stock animal is thus developed.

Again, the farmer has not the time to watch the cattle and see that the calves get their full share of the food and notice the hard some morning if you are feeding the calves, dairy and stock cattle all together, and you

Triple Calves.

Will observe that the little fellows are getting only a bit now and then as they dodge about among the other cattle. Indeed, they are even very liable to be badly injured besides by some of the larger animals.

Furthermore, even if it were sensible or profitable to allow the calves to run with the other animals, they require more time in which to eat and they will do much better if rations peculiarly adapted to their needs are given them.

In case one is handling a considerable herd of stock calves they should be placed in separate quarters from the others. Even the lot in which they exercise or have their feed racks for exercise, should be arranged so the larger animals will not have access to it.

Individual feed troughs or boxes cannot be furnished in a case like this, but long troughs should be provided, their size being sufficient to permit all the calves to eat without crowding each other, as the larger ones soon acquire the habit of cheating the smaller and weaker ones out of their feed.

Where one is raising only a few calves, especially if they are for the dairy herd, they should be housed as above advised and in addition they should be trained to the halter. Teach them to stand still in their stalls and to lead anywhere desired.

DAIRY

Milk the cows quietly, quickly and on time.

Provide comfortable quarters for milk cows.

As a rule the best market is your home market.

Give a balanced ration—clean, wholesome and appetizing.

Clean the dairy stable in summer just as regularly as in winter.

Apply intelligent labor to your dairy and watch the returns increase.

Oats and pea hay is a nutritious and valuable feed if cut at the right time.

Weed out the unprofitable cows by means of the Babcock test and the test.

Milk the cows clean every time if you could keep up a uniform flow of milk.

The dairy cow is naturally of a quiet disposition and should be quietly handled.

Sunshine, pure air and clean stables are necessary for successfully managing a dairy.

The market for either stock may fluctuate, but a good milk cow always brings top prices.

The cow disease, tuberculosis, is nothing more than cow consumption.

POULTRY

DESTROY ALL AILING FOWLS

Disease Generally Attacks Most Susceptible of Flock and They Should Be Killed at Once.

DR. M. E. GIBBLEY

Most ailing or diseased chickens or hens had better be killed than doctored. In the first place it is by far the quickest way. Again, it at once does away with any risk from contagion. Moreover, a once sick hen, even if she does seem entirely recovered, seldom develops into a first class layer, and second class layers seldom pay.

There is another point, often overlooked. Disease generally attacks the weakest or most susceptible of the flock, and no flock was ever benefited by keeping in it birds of this kind when it is known they are such. It is true that now and then some trivial thing may all an otherwise strong bird, and it would be a mistake to give her no opportunity to recover.

We have had cases of timberneck, bumblefoot or slight lameness or cold, that yielded promptly to treatment.
A few drops of pain killer or other hot drink seems to work on timberneck even more quickly than on a cold, and opening the swelling and applying some cleansing healing wash has been about all we have ever found necessary for bumble foot.

But, as a rule, ailing hens or chicks, particularly if they persist at all in ailing, we think had better be killed and buried or burned deeply.

Why Some Poultrymen Fail

Lack of Thorough Investigation Before Taking Up Industry Has Been Usual Cause of Failure.

While there is a great profit in raising poultry, failure of specialized poultry farms is frequently reported.
Lack of proper investigation before going into the enterprise has been the usual cause of lack of success.

Then, too, perhaps, bad location, lack of the necessary amount of capital, careless investment, improper choice of breeds and character of buildings had a great deal to do with the success.

Some of the essential features in the successful handling of a poultry farm are the development of the young stock, proper feeding, proper marketing, the right kind of labor, etc. Specialization in poultry is just as profitable as specialization in any other branch of agriculture. A careful account of expenses and receipts must be kept, so that a check can be made from time to time on the business. Moreover, poultry in small lots are very adaptable to people not in the best of health and particularly to women, who are adapted to the raising of farm fowls.

A Profitable Type.

GRAIN NEEDED FOR POULTRY

Corn May Be Used as Food to Advantage, but It Must Be Supplemented With Something Else.

Grain is the staple food for poultry, and will be used for that purpose as long as fowls are kept on farms; but hens cannot give good results on grain alone. It is beneficial to them, says the Fruit Grower, and will be at all times, but the demand of the hens is such as will call for variety. In the shells of eggs, as well as their composition, are several forms of mineral matter and nitrogen, which can only be partially obtained from grain.

Even grains vary in composition, and when fowls are fed on one kind for a long time, they begin to refuse it, as they may be oversupplied with the elements in the food particles and lack the elements that are best obtained from some other source. For this reason they will accept a change of food, which is of itself an evidence that the best results from hens can only be obtained by a variety of food.

Corn and wheat may be used as food with advantage, but it must be given in portion of the ration only, and not made exclusive articles of diet.

Water for Ducks.

Ducks kept entirely on land must have deep drinking vessels, so they can get their heads under water.
Where shallow vessels or troughs are used they gum up about the eyes, become listless, sit about, lose their appetites and eventually die.

Meat Food Lacking.

Feather-growing fowls usually lack meat food.

Horticultural Advice

DEFINITE PERIODS TO PRUNE

Popular Subject for Individual Disputes as Practically Every Month Has Its Advocate.

The best time to prune trees has always been a popular subject for individual dispute. Practically every month in the year has its advocates.
This fact indicates that there may be some truth in the old, long-remembered rule that the time to prune is when the sap is sharp. At any rate, we may note that under certain conditions, pruning may be safely done at any time of the year. However, it is best always, even in the case of the house orchard, to have two definite periods during the year in which to prune: once during the dormant season, from November to April, and once in the height of the growing season, about in June.

Both winter and summer pruning have their advocates, but the object to be gained in pruning really should be the determining factor, as the effects of the two is almost opposite.

Winter pruning tends to check the growth of fruit buds, and encourages wood growth, including the formation of water sprouts. On the other hand, summer pruning promotes the formation of fruit buds, and checks wood growth. Sometimes these results are very marked, but usually are not sufficiently enough to attract attention of the grower.

There is always much more time in the winter to do the work—an important consideration on the general farm. The men also usually do the pruning better, and the brush can be disposed of more easily. There is also time to paint over and care for the wounds caused by the pruning. But in case summer pruning is used, it is done at all. While in many cases summer pruning would prove advantageous, yet the problem is to get the orchard owner to first see the advantage of pruning even during the idle winter period, before he can be expected to spend money of the busy summer hours at this work.

Handy Device for Orchard

Implement Invented by Michigan Man for Picking Fruit in Highest and Lowest Limbs.

The Scientific American, in illustrating and describing a device for orchard use, invented by A. H. Gellings of Souders Bay, Mich., says:

"This invention the object is to provide a device for picking fruit which will prevent bruising of the fruit. A further object is to provide a device by means of which fruit in the highest part of the tree may be picked as well as on the lowest. A further object of the invention is to allow the operator to reach the fruit without the necessity of climbing the tree. The device is adapted for use in picking fruit in the highest and Plan for Flower Beds.

While the flower beds and borders are in full leaf and flower is the time to make plans for next season's garden. Planning now at the end of the season while the mistakes of color, size and nature of plants are before your actual eyes, not the mind's eye.
Place your plans on paper and order for fall or spring delivery such seeds and plants as you have decided upon.

Continue Insect War.

Keep up the warfare against the insects for while the fall insect does not do so much damage in the fall, it lays eggs which hatch in the spring. Again, if the rose, for instance, is harassed by insects now it will not make proper growth and ripen for next year's blooming. A good method in September that is well attended will give splendid results next year.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vin-

Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of these weak sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 30 years.
It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

Fire Insurance Companies Withdraw.

There has been almost universal withdrawal of fire insurance companies from the State since the enactment of the Green Glass bill for the regulation of rates, the companies declaring that the proposed rates, and the supreme power of the commissioners over the affairs of insurance concerns will prevent the business being done except at a loss, and under embarrassing hindrances. The framers of the bill claim that insurance rates have been extremely high in Kentucky, and that the companies have been making an average net profit for some years of about 20 per cent. collecting in ten years over $12,000,000 and have paid in fire losses only about $5,000,000. This is denied by the companies, but they will submit no data in rebuttal. To overcome the withdrawal of the foreign companies, it is being planned to organize home companies, to care for the business, which can be done profitably, it is claimed, at the rates proposed. In the meantime there is considerable agitation, and much pressure is being brought to bear to arrange matters so that the interests of the State may not suffer on account of a lack of insurance. It is hoped the best solution may be reached, but there is a general feeling that rates can be materially reduced and still leave the companies full remuneration for the money they disburse.

Miss Lucile McNary discovered her dress afire last Friday and ran screaming to her mother, who was in the yard. With rare presence of mind the mother threw the girl to the ground and rolled her in the mud, quickly extinguishing the flames with no injury to the girl. Mrs. McNary was rather severely burned on the hands, but will soon be able to be out. It was a lucky termination of what might have been a fatal affair.

Mr. James Oates was in town yesterday, enroute to his home at Harp's Hill after a visit in Bowling Green.

Millinery opening March 24 and 25, in R. Martin & Co. building.

Town House and Farm for Sale.

I have a 48 acre farm, house and outbuildings, 2 miles East of town, and my 3 room residence on Hopkinsville street, for sale.

Miss Ella McCracken has just returned from Nashville, where she has been studying styles in millinery. She has accepted a position with W. A. Young, and will be glad to see her friends there.

There will be a Bible School Convention held at the Christian church here, day and night, April 7 and 8, at which there will be representatives from the various Bible Schools of the 15th district. All Bible school workers are invited to be present. There will be special programs, and each session will be instructive and helpful.

Remember the millinery opening of Rose & Drake next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Read the ad. of C. Kirkpatrick & Co., and go to them for fire insurance, as they represent some of the best companies in the business, and which have not withdrawn from Kentucky, but are seeking the business of our people.

Don't forget, and don't stay away; but see the pretty things on display at Rose & Drake's millinery opening next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Some permanent repairs are being made on the streets, two carloads of stone having been received this week, and being placed where most needed. Other cars will be ordered right along and the work continued.

Read the ad. of G. M. Dexter & Co. in this issue.

Notice to A. S. of E. Members.

The County Union of the A. S. of E. will meet in regular session April 2nd and 3rd at the Court House in Greenville. All locals are requested to elect delegates to be present as business of importance will come before the body for consideration.

We had hoped to be able to make complete settlement for the 1913 crop of tobacco by that time, but owing to the dry weather in March tobacco is not stripped. Our delivery has been very satisfactory indeed, and if members will do their duty there is no reason why we should not be able to control the entire crop this year. Therefore we hope all locals will have a full delegation at the County Union.

The County Secretary informs me there has been no settlements made by the local secretaries for the 1914 dues. The County Union voted a penalty of 10 cents on the quarter. The Secretaries will please report their locals to the County Secretary that they may save this penalty.

Mr. W. Caty, Pres. Muhlenberg Co. A. S. of E.

The automobile fever is attracting quite a number of persons, and there will be many new users of the motor car this season. Many persons in the country are planning to buy cars, and it is thought that most of this sales season will be in the rural districts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Young have returned from market, where they bought a complete line of dry goods, notions and millinery.

FIRE INSURANCE

To Our Patrons and the Public:

We will continue to write Insurance as heretofore, notwithstanding a large majority of the companies have ceased writing business in the State. We are enabled to care for your business in legal reserve companies authorized to do business by the State.

C. Kirkpatrick & Co.

Louisville Purchasing Agent.

Prettiest things ever this Spring. Let me get bargains for you in Louisville. I can buy better than you and save you money. I know the trade and make a business of buying for others.

Mrs. Maydwell W. Linn, Purchasing Agent, Gaston Apartments, Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky. Telephone Main 2263 4.

Purveyor-Rice Wedding Announcement.

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Helen Puryear and Mr. C. J. Rice, which will occur on April 22. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Puryear, and one of the most popular young ladies of the city. Mr. Rice is a civil engineer of much ability, has been elected county surveyor, and professionally and personally is held in the highest regard, being a young man with a bright future. Congratulations and best wishes are being showered on the couple by friends from far and near.

Hon. M. J. Fanning addressed a large audience at the Methodist church last Friday night on the evil effects of the liquor traffic, and his talk was highly interesting and convincing. He has delivered more than 18,000 talks, in every part of the country, and there are no phases of the question which he does not understand.

Spring and summer millinery on display March 24 and 25. You are cordially invited to come in and inspect our line of Ladies' Misses' and children's hats of the latest styles at reasonable prices.

Important Real Estate Deals.

Two of the most important real estate deals that have been made here in some time were closed last week, and show the increasing values of such property in the city.

Mr. Scott Dexter sold his home on East Main street to Mr. W. H. Gray, the consideration being $2,800. The building is new and modern, and a highly desirable home. Mr. Dexter and his wife will move to Central City and Mr. Gray and family will soon occupy the house.

Mr. M. B. McDonald last week purchased the home of Mrs. Lucy Tinsley, corner Main and Hopkinsville street, at a price of $3,000, which is considered very reasonable, this property being much sought after as soon as it was put on the market. The house is commodious, and the location is one of the best in town. It is being occupied by the new owner.

Mayor's Proclamation.

Inasmuch as numerous dogs have developed rabies, and some of them very recently, it has been recommended by the county health officer that the time be extended until May 1, 1914, until which date it will be unlawful for any dog to be allowed to run at large in the city of Greenville before that date. Therefore, to protect the people of our city, I hereby order that no dog be permitted to run at large, unless properly muzzled. This order is to continue in force the order of February 10, 1914, as amended, and police officers are directed to enforce its provisions rigidly.

Given under my hand as Mayor of the city of Greenville, this 10 day of March, 1914.

T. J. Sparks, Mayor City of Greenville, Ky.

Have You a Liver?

IF SO USE LIV-VER-LAX

Read Following Statement from Prominent Greenville Doctor.

We have recently received a large shipment of BERRY'S LIV-VER-LAX, the liver medicine which we recommend more than any other. It is a purely vegetable, and does not take calomel or other harsh poisons to derange the system, but it is a sure cure for all liver troubles. We have used it on our personal families, and it is a sure cure for all liver troubles.
